This graph demonstrates the figures of sales of hamburgers in Harry ’ s in 1998. As we can see from the chart, the sales changed greatly throughout the year.As is shown in the graph, the sales of hamburgers in Jan, Feb. and March kept almost unchanged, around 2,000 each month, in spite of a slight decrease in April and May, when about 1800 were sold each month. From June on, there appeared a steady rise of sales, which amounted to 2600 in July and 3000 in August, the highest point during in the whole year. Then after August, the figure fell down steeply and bottomed out in October, arriving at 1200, despite a small rebound in November and December, which was 1900 and 2000 respectively.From the statistics shown in the graph, we can see that the sales were the highest in August in Harry ’ s and the lowest in October in the year 1998.
