

IELTS写作常用词语 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/10/2021_2022_IELTS_E5_86_99_E4_BD_c7_10395.htm

Use first person pronoun as subject: I, We Use verbs with first person subject: advocate, believe, feel, know, mean, think, understand
Use personalized expressions: it seems to me, it appears, from my point of view, in my view, in my opinion
Use attitudinal signals such as: assuredly, certainly, definitely, indisputably, undeniably, undoubtedly, unquestionably clearly, obviously, plainly fortunately, unfortunately, unhappily significantly rightly, wrongly Use verbs like should, must, ought to
Ways of hedging or avoiding commitment Avoid using first person pronouns
Use impersonal subjects, such as it
Use passive voice so as to avoid specifying an agent or doer such as: It can be imagined that ... Large numbers of foreign students have been admitted ...

Use verbs (often with an impersonal subject) such as: hear, guess, imagine, suggest, suppose signals such as: apparently, arguably, hypothetically, ideally, possibly, seemingly, superficially hopefully, strangely, unexpectedly, regrettably
Use verbs such as: could, would, may, might 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com