

雅思面试第四阶迷你表达法 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式， 建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/10/2021_2022__E9_9B_85_E6_80_9D_E9_9D_A2_E8_c8_10583.htm

In this section, you need to pay attention to the following functions: 通常在第四阶段双方会讨论一些比较大的话题，表达自己的意见时应该干净利落，和对方讨论时要注意礼貌，具体注意事项如下：

Asking for opinions
Giving opinions
Agreeing and disagreeing
Tentative ways of expressing an opinion
Asking for clarifications
Giving clarifications
Hesitating
Interrupting politely
Responding to what has been said
Introducing a topic
Saying you don't know

What the candidate should do: Plan the talk about your future | sections similar to those given in the flowchart. Of course, you can use your own planning ideas if you wish. Prepare before the test by asking yourself wh/ how questions of each section of your talk. The answers can form the basis of your talk. Use appropriate future forms and phrases to express the chance of a future situation occurring. Try to talk around a difficult question by speculating, using simple words to express complex ideas. It is not a good idea to give up and fail to try and express yourself.

What the candidate should not do: Do not simply mention that you will, say, work for a company after you graduate. Name a company: imagine your future position, and pretend. You will never see the examiner again! Do not be surprised if the examiner asks you questions as you talk. Once you have finished answering in detail, you can continue where you were before in the conversation. Do not overuse the word “ will ” . There are many other ways to express the future in English. “ Will ” is often too definite to indicate plans which. After all, may or may not happens as you wish. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com