You should say: When and where it happened. What it was. Whether it has any special meaning to you. Thank you for the opportunity to speak to you. I am sure you will find my talk interesting and informative.

- a) Well, let me think. My twenty-first birthday was a happy event in my life. b) I am sure yours was as well.
- a) In terms of when and where it happened, b) it was almost three years ago, while I was studying in Australia. There are several reasons as for why I would like to talk specifically about this birthday. Allow me to explain by mentioning some of them briefly. It was a happy and special event to me for several reasons.
- a) Firstly many of my friends were present. b) These included some new Australian friends, as well as my best friend who was visiting me at the time.
- a) Furthermore, I received many useful presents. b) For example, my girlfriend gave me a scarf, which she had knitted specially for me.
- a) Lastly and the most important is the fact that I then officially became an adult. b) I realized that I now had the responsibility to shape the rest of my life on my own. So you can see, I shall remember my twenty-first birthday for as long as I live.
