组 Do you have many friends? Are they similar to you or different from you? Which kind of friends do you prefer? Maybe you are fond of collecting stamps, then a pleasure is to have a friend with the same taste, and exchange the little “ treasure ” with him. or maybe you are interested in playing tennis, then how wonderful it is to compete with your friend, also a well-matched tennis fan, in a green field.

Having friends whose characters, hobbies and social conditions are similar to you can bring you many advantages. They are easy to get along with, and between you and your friends, there are always something that all of you are familiar with. Because of the similarity, they can see something in the position of yours, and understand you better. But how about making different friends? Yes, they may have not what you have, but they have what you have not. Perhaps the least similar friends are the protagonist of the scientific novel “ Around the World in Eighty Days ” , Mr. Fogg, and his ardent, humorous and talkative servant, Jean, who was not a bit like his old-fashioned master. But who can say that Mr. Fogg ’ s courage and warm-heartedness were not partly from the influence and help of Jean? A different friend is a mirror that can reflect your virtues and shortcomings. From him, you can find what you lack and you can learn what you need. When viewed from these perspectives, different friends may do more in shaping you than do the similar ones. No matter how similar they, every two friends have difference. and no matter how different they are, as friend, they have at least one similarity: the sincerity towards friendship. In the sincere friendship, you can find shelter from danger, courage in need, and hands willing to help. Open y our heart to your friends, whether they are similar to or different from you, you may become the happiest man in the world.
