Section I Use of English (10%) Read the following text. Choose the best word or phrase for each numbered blank and mark A, B, C or D on ANSWER SHEET 1 (客观答题卡). We suffer from a conspicuous lack of role models and shared causes. This is 1 of reason, I think, that many young Asian-Americans continue to assimilate quietly into America 2 as doctors, scientists and engineers. Our struggles are individual and familial but 3 communal or political. Ours is a frustratingly limited version of the AMERICAN Dream. While I can strive for 4 into Harvard and become the talk of the Korean mothers in my hometown, God forbid that I aim much further and higher than that 5 fame and influence as a writer, an intellectual or perhaps president of the United States. I wish more than anything else to feel like part of something 6 than myself and my personal ambitions, part of a larger culture. Unfortunately, by coming to America my parent, 7 the cultural legacy they would have passed on to me. When I visited 8 last summer, found that I was 9 and chastised by many people for never learning how to speak Korean and for turning my 10 on their culture. Taxi drivers would 11 to stop for me and my Korean-American friends because they knew from our 12 where we had come from. And 13 , in spite of the 17 years I have spent in this country, I feel more acutely conscious than ever of the fact that I am not completely 14. Recently, a black man called me a "little Chinese faggot" in a mens room, and a 15 woman on the street told me to "go back to Japan." Americans, I think, feel a(n) 16 to keep both Asians and Asian-Americans at a sociological, philosophical and geographical distance. With 17 numbers of Asian-American 18 applying to top colleges, many white students have begun to complain about Asian-American 19 and competitiveness, calling us "Asian nerds." Many Americans consider this as part of a larger "Asian invasion" associated 20 Japan's export success in America.
