Topic31：是否同意一辈子住在同一个地方？
Topic31 Some people spend their entire lives in one place. Others move a number of times throughout their lives, looking for a better job, house, community, or even climate. Which do you prefer: staying in one place or moving in search of another place? Use reasons and specific examples to support your opinion. [托福参看范文之一]
Topic: 31 Even though I have lived in the same house, in the same neighborhood, in the same city my entire life, I know I would be happy living in a variety of places. Moving would expose me to new people, new weather, and new housing. Even if I were to move to another part of my city, I would encounter new people. Each neighborhood has a distinct personality. When I move to that neighborhood, I would meet the shopkeepers and residents that shape that personality. I may even adopt part of their manner as my own so I could be recognized as part of that community. If I want to encounter different weather patterns, I would have to move beyond my city. Where I live now, it is the same temperature all year. I would like to go to a place where there are four seasons so I can experience really cold temperatures. I would like to walk in the snow and perhaps go skiing. I could learn winter sports if I lived in the north. Now, of course, I live with my parents in their home. It is a one story house built around a courtyard where our family spends a lot of time. If I were to move, I would like to live in an apartment on a very high floor so I could see all around me. I could also meet my neighbors in the elevator and we could get together for coffee in my apartment. The more I move the more I would experience change. I would meet new people in everyplace I lived. I could move to sample countries with four seasons or even a continent like Antarctica which only has two. Wherever I lived, I would experience living in housing particular to that area. I would then be a citizen of the world, wouldn't I? Could you call me a foreigner if I called everyplace my home? [托福参看范文之二] Some people spend their entire lives in one place. Others move many times throughout their lives in order to looking for a better job, house, community, or even climate. As far as I am concerned, the latter is more enjoyable than the former. The reasons for this view go as follows: In the first place, some people have found a better job far away where they live currently. In this kind of situation, do you move for the better career or do you still live in the old place where you are already familiar with everything nearby. Absolutely, I will choose moving not only because it gives me a good career but also because moving is very exciting. In the second place, moving is very exciting. Finding a new house, buying the new furniture, all of these are wonderful things. For example, if I move, I want to find a single house instead of the town house, which I live now, because a single house can possess more grass, which my son loves very much. Moreover, I want to choose a big kitchen that all my family can sit at a big dinner table and have dinner together. In the third place, living in a place in all my life looks like too boring for me. Moving to different place, I can enjoy different community and different climate. For example, I can enjoy the mild temperature in the south America, and also I do not miss the beautiful snow in the northern. From what I have discussed above, moving is exciting not only because it gives me a new job opportunity but also because it can let me enjoy the beach of south and the snow in the north. Therefore, I prefer moving in search of another place instead of staying in one place. 100Test 下载频道开通, 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
