Students Selecting their Lecturers At present, some colleges and universities permit their students to 0select lecturers of some courses by themselves. After all, some teachers are very boring and some required subjects are probably not very practical. Several fundamental factors are considered when students 0selecting their lecturers. First and foremost, a good instructor should be able to interest and motivate their classes. Students will learn more quickly and thoroughly from a teacher who makes the subject matter come alive for them. What is more, an outstanding tutor should spend time and energy organizing and preparing the lessons. Good as 0selecting lecturers is, it also has its own disadvantages. On the one hand, if students can choose their own curriculum, they can generally do better in subjects that interest them. On the other hand, given the high pressure to make good grades, many students will misuse the opportunity and naturally choose the easier subjects rather than the harder ones. It is high time that we attached importance to this issue. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目
