The most serious problem is the language barrier. Most of the students who are ready to go abroad do not have adequate knowledge of the language spoken there. As a result, on arriving there, they will find it difficult to understand what the instructors are saying. Besides, for lack of knowledge of the customs and way of life of the local people, they may run into trouble in dealing with various situations. Therefore, misunderstandings often arise. Furthermore, the cost of living is much higher than that in our country, so most students have to find part-time jobs in order to help support themselves. Faced with these difficulties, many students find themselves unable to pay full attention to their studies and some students may even fail in their courses and learn little. Therefore, given an opportunity to attend a school abroad, one must consider both sides of the factors carefully before making up his mind. On the whole, it is a good thing to go and study abroad particularly when the subject is very weak or not available in our country. But on the other hand, one must not lose sight of the disadvantages. (七) Is the Expansion of Enrollment a Good Thing? Many colleges and universities have expanded their enrollment since 1998. The reasons for the expansion are as follows. Firstly, they want to keep up with the need of the job market to produce more qualified people to take up the jobs. Secondly, the expansion has entitled many high school graduates to the right of receiving higher education. Last but not least , it can raise the intellectual standards of our nation. However , studies show that the trend to expand has brought about many problems. For instance , the teaching facilities and accommodation capacities of many colleges and universities are limited and are unable to meet the demand of an ever-increasing number of the newly enrolled students. On the other hand , the average quality of the freshmen is declining. In the long run , hunting for a job will be a tough thing for the graduates and that will inevitably exert much pressure on the prospects of employment. In spite of all this , I am still confident that the expansion of enrollment is of great benefit to our society and is a good thing. With the development of our national economy , the problem as mentioned above will be solved if proper measures are taken. (八) 1、别人请求帮助时,在什么情况下我们会说“不” 2、为什么有些人在该说“不”的时候不说“不” 3、该说“不”时不说“不”的坏处 Dont Hesitate to Say “ No ” To help those who are in need is always regarded as a traditional Chinese moral. However people have to know well what the need is before the help is offered. When the need is just for some minoritys benefit and against most peoples interests , or when it is immoral or unlawful , people should not hesitate to say No. Otherwise they will put themselves into trouble.

Unfortunately , there are so many such examples around us that people end up their leadership in jail or bury their glory in shame simply because they dont say “ No ” while they should. Some people are reluctant to say “ No ” in front of all kinds of briberies as they want to swamp their power for money. They cant resist the temptations of accumulating wealth in a fast but illegal way. For their own good and their friends favor , these people would sacrifice millions of RMB Yuan for an unproportional commission and therefore stake there future on scales of law. Other people dont say No because of misinterpreted friendship and lack of sense of law. They never hesitate to do whatever their friends ask them to do. They believe they are helping their friends even when they are actually violating the law or local regulations. Such people will also be punished according to the degree of their misbehavior. Therefore , to help is not always doing good. People should learn to say a No when the help might hurt other peoples interests. 100Test 下载频道 开通 , 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
