From the table based on a survey we made of the reading preferences of students in an American university in 2002, we learnt that, of all kinds of books, contemporary university students like fictions best, which has 65.9 percent of book circulation in library while other kinds of books have low percentage: general nonfiction --18.2, science/technology/education-10.8,art/literature/poetry--5.1. It suggests that contemporary students are much more easily influenced by the fashion than ever before. Its a reasonable and good phenomenon because it reveals that university students like to keep up with the development of society. Thus they will easily adapt themselves into the new life after they graduate from school. Generally, I like reading nonfictions, for it is tightly connected with the reality. To some degree, its no use reading too much fictions which sometimes will take you into fancy fantasy. Fast life pace also dont allow me to read books on art or poetry. To me, nonfiction is even helpful in analyzing society and humanity. 100Test 下载频道 开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
