The format and the scope of the test: An oral test usually consists of three parts : 1) A Brief Introduction about Yourself ; 2) Talking about a Short Topic , 3) Some Discussion with the Examiner . Just like a western meal , the first part of an oral test is just some “ salad ” which is easy to deal with , while the second part is the “ main course ” which you need to pay full attention to . You need to make out a list of various topics such as campus life , environment protection , Olympic Games , friendship , etc . Then , you need to think of something to say about each of those topics . Don ’ t try to give a long lecture , just a few points on one subject . You need to express yourself clearly and your pronunciation and intonation should be acceptable . When you prepare for the topics , you can talk to your classmates , and you can also talk to yourself . You needn ’ t write down all the sentences and recite them . Never think in Chinese and try to translate them into English . You must learn to use idiomatic English sentence patterns and expressions in your oral presentation . As for the third part of the test , it won ’ t be of any difficulty if you can get through the first two parts smoothly . 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
