The LSAT is a half-day standardized test required for admission to all 196 law schools that are members of the Law School Admission Council (LSAC or Law Services). It provides a standard measure of reading and verbal reasoning skills that law schools can use as one of several factors in assessing applicants. The test is administered four times a year at hundreds of locations around the world. Many law schools require that the LSAT be taken by December for admission the following fall. However, taking the test earlier in June or October is often advised. Most LSAC-member law schools in the United States will also require that you subscribe to the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS). The registration fee for the LSAT is $88. Late registrants must pay an additional $531999-2000 LSAT
