This is particularly the case in the Middle East, ___2___ increased oil incomes have enabled many countries to ___3___ outsiders to improve local facilities. ___4___ the Middle East has attracted oil-workers from the U.S.A. and Europe. It has brought in construction workers and technicians from many countries, ___5___ South Korea and Japan. In view of the difficult living and working conditions in the Middle East, it is not ___6___ that the pay is high to attract suitable workers. Many engineers and technicians can earn at least ___7___ money in the Middle East as they can in their own country, and this is a major attraction. An allied benefit is the low taxation or complete lack of it. This increases the net amount of pay received by visiting workers and is very popular with them. Sometimes a disadvantage has a compensating advantage. ___8___, the difficult living conditions often lead to increased friendship when workers have to depend on each other ___9___ safety and comfort. ___10___, many migrant workers can save large sums of money partly ___11___ the lack of entertainment facilities. The work is often complex and full of problems but this merely presents greater challenge to engineers who prefer to find solutions ___12___ problems rather than do routine work in their home country. One major problem which ___13___ migrant workers in the Middle East is that their jobs are temporary ones. They are nearly always on contract, so it is not easy for them to plan ahead with great confidence. This is to be expected since no country welcomes a large number of foreign workers as permanent residents. ___14___, migrant workers accept this disadvantage, along with others, because of the ___15___ financial benefits which they receive.
