Experience Taking a taxi in a certain Eastern European country can be a shocking experience. It is said that some taxi drivers have metal wires stuck into the passenger seats. And when a button is pushed , the seat will give you an electric shock. These taxi drivers don ' t do this for fun. They do it to tourists who argue about the ridiculous fares they charge. Some drivers charge as much as ten times the legal fare. They have a secret switch which makes the meters run faster. If you refuse to pay , you are really in for a shock. In one case , a German woman had no choice but to pay US$120 for a US$20 ride from the airport. She said that she was "really taken for a ride , " but what could she do ? Besides the electric shock , she was verbally abused and threatened with physical violence. She has only one piece of advice to tourists : "Take the bus or stay at home." 100Test 下载频道开通 , 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问
