

关于英文写作的几点体会 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/155/2021_2022__E5_85_B3_E4_BA_8E_E8_8B_B1_E6_c64_155411.htm 大家好，我是一个英文爱好者，现阶段正致力于写作能力的提高，以下是自己学习过程中的几点体会，用英文写出来和大家分享。 It seems that the most difficult language skill for an ESL student is the writing skill. Here I would like to share some of my ideas on how to practice. At first , you need to think in English , which means to forget that you are a Chinese (even though you are) , then try to write it down. Learn to think like a native from a English speaking country can be the best way to study that language for those who look english as a second language.来源 : www.examda.com Next , do not stop reading. Making Reading one of your hobbies can be a great help since those articles and books make you see the way in which those native speakers think and express. But if you are just starting your journey of studying english. The recommendation should be given of spending more of your spare time on reading than writing.来源 : www.examda.com Thirdly , I find that to speak with and listen to those natives can also be a help , for the written english is more like the spoken one in syntax than what you thought it should have been. That means the most fundamental part of writing could be to write down what you wish to speak. Finally , Those quotes and poets are great sentences , but bear in mind while you use it that much of them were composited in some abnormal ways of sentence structure , which can be different from those we run into each day. If becoming a newspaper editor or a professional writer is not your dream , it is not necessarily appropriate to imitate the ways those poets and authors do. 100Test 下载频道开通 , 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com