PROOFREADING & ERROR CORRECTION Directions:

The following passage contains ten errors. Each line contains a maximum of one error. In each case only one word is involved. You should proofread the passage and correct it in the following way: For a wrong word, underline the wrong word and write the correct one in the blank provided at the end of the line. For a missing word, mark the position of the missing word with a "^" sign and write the word you believe to be missing in the blank provided at the end of the line. For an unnecessary word, cross the unnecessary word with a slash "/" and put the word in the blank provided at the end of the line. EXAMPLE When ^ art museum wants a new exhibit, (1) an it (never/) buys things in finished form and hangs (2) never them on the wall. When a natural history museum wants an exhibition, it must often build it. (3)exhibit Whenever you see the old film, even on made as early (26) as ten years before, you cant help being struck (27) by the appearance of the woman taking part. Their hair-styles and make-up look dated. their shirts look either too long nor too short. their general appearance (28) is, in fact, slightly ludicrous. The men taking part, on the other hand, are clearly recognizable. There is something about their appearance to suggest they belong (29) to an entirely different age. This illusion is created by changed fashions. Over the years, the great (30) majority of men has successfully resisted all attempts (31) to make them to change their style of dress. The (32) same cannot be said for women. Each year a few so-call top designers in Paris and London lay down (33) on the law and women the whole world over run to (34) obey. The decrees of the designers are unpredictable and dictatorial. Sometimes they decide arbitrarily that skirts will be short and waists will be height. hips (35) are in and buttons are out. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32.
