

TerminologyPractice术语1 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议
阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/172/2021_2022_Terminolog_c92_172037.htm

1. account 银行账户 account: In this sense, a record of financial transactions *. money on deposit in a bank. For example: I guess your work has to do with checking accounts. We ve had an account with them for years. You don t make much on that kind of account.
2. board of directors 董事会 board of directors: a group of people who control the activities of a bank or company. For example: Are the members of the board of directors stockholders? When will the board of directors stockholders? He s member of the board of directors.
3. capital 资本，资金 Capital: In this sense, the money used to start a bank or company. For example: They put up the necessary capital. What is the amount of the capital? They had some trouble raising the capital.
4. cashier 现金主管 Cashier: an officer of a bank in charge of the money, which goes in and out of a bank or company. For Example: They hire the president and vice-president, along with the cashier. You d better see the cashier about that. The cashier is on vacation just now.
5. charter 银行执照 Charter: in this sense, permission granted by the government to do business. For example: They were granted a charter by the government. When was the charter granted? I don t think they ll be able to get a charter.
6. checking 支票帐户，活期存款 Checking account: an account in bank from which money can be drawn by check. For example: I guess your work has to do with checking accounts. How much money is left in my checking account? I d like to close my checking account. 7. Clerical 银行行员的 Clerical: having to do with the keeping of records and with correspondence. For example: The board hires them, along with the clerical workers. We're behind on our clerical work. Do you have any clerical jobs open now? 8. dividend 红利 Dividend: a sum of money paid to a stockholder or shares of stock issued to him out of profits in relation to his investment. For example: The stockholders receive regular dividends. The last dividend was quite large. How much did you receive in dividends? 9. invest 投资 Invest: put money into a business in order to make a profit. For Example: I'd like to invest in some mutual bonds. How much money does she have to invest? 10. investment 投资, 投资金额 Investment: money put into a business in order to make profit. the act of doing this. For Example: Planning the bank's investments is very important. I want to talk to you about my investments. Would you make an investment of that kind?

100Test 下载频道开通, 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com