Version 101 Traditional arts civilized a nation. Do you think government should subsidize musicians, artists, actors or drama companies? What should a government

do?=====

=====During the past 10 decades, people of different kinds of countries all over the world enjoyed different cultural arts which were valuable to their nation. However this case would not last for a long time because of the development of modern society. So if our government tend to make us more like traditional Chinese, it should subsidize the traditional arts. Frankly, the amalgamation of different traditions is always good to a society, though there were some offensively things such as wars, the Inquisition and so on. However, some meaningful traditions of civilization disappeared during this kind of amalgamation. The traditional arts, the most beautiful diamond of tradition treasury, were worth coming down and being carried forward. Fortunately, the government has come to know that without the traditional arts such as musicians, artists, actors or drama companies our society will be sapless. They did subsidize some of these traditional arts but the fund was, as we can see, far below our needs. Another key to protect the traditional arts is enacting a law. For example it can be written to the decree that the operator of traditional arts will pay a lower income tax than of any other trades. And The government can also do something to organize the traditional arts union, broaden its incomes and prevent operators from giving up their jobs. All in all, the government should do something to support our tradition areas. And the unions of other areas may, if possible, give useful helps to it too.----- 参考范文 : Traditional arts, as valuable cultural relics of a nation, are disappearing far away from the modern society. China, as one of the highly-civilized countries in the world, abound in various forms of traditional arts, such as painting, calligraphy, music, architecture and dramas, which are not only our national cultural treasures, but also a rich fortune of the world. (58 words) As essence of a local culture, traditional arts reflect a nation ' s artistic talents and traditions. For example, water-color painting depicts a harmony between people and nature. Architecture illustrates a nation ' s aesthetic value and religious belief. Cathedrals, highlighted by Baroque style in the 17th century, represent Christianity. Pagodas, totally different from cathedrals stylistically, are a symbol of Buddhism. Peking Opera describes the history of our country. (65 words) However, traditional arts are leaving contemporary people further and further away, one of the main reasons for which is that the authorities concerned and some institutes lack funds and professionals, which are quite essential to the research and promotion of traditional culture. Another radical reason should be attributed to the impact of western cultures on traditions. Young people, especially youngsters, are addicted to western music like rock and roll, without any knowledge about traditional musical instruments. With the economic globalization, traditional culture and arts will be in the danger of assimilation. How to maintain and develop traditional arts becomes the biggest concern of a government. (105 words) Firstly, the government should lay a fund for the research and promotion of traditional arts. Secondly, the research institutes and universities should work out a long-term developing scheme, organizing systematic research on traditional arts. Arts belong to a nation and the whole world as well. The prosperity of traditional arts will diversify the culture of the world.
