Food is very important to everyone and sometimes it determines the health and life of us. I really care about what I eat because I have a sensitive stomach. The food I like must be very unique and special and my friends always joke that I'm a gourmet. Some people may often go to different restaurants for a change but for me, I'm the regular customer of a small restaurant which is called It's a place with a cozy atmosphere and whenever you go there, you feel at ease. I often go there with my friends on weekends and most of the time the guests are the regular customers. The waiters and waitresses can remember your taste without mistake, which is very amazing. I'm particular about food and I don't like ginger or garlic, which are the two basic elements of Chinese dishes. I always get mad in other restaurants because they always put in the two things. But here I just relax. They cook the food just in the way I want. And the price is reasonable. I like it very much.

As youth, we are in the prime of our life. We should make good use of our golden time. The teachers take pains to teach us every day so that we can acquire more knowledge. We should not fail their expectations. I should not rest content with what I have done. Entering college is just a step in the threshold of the palace of knowledge. The road is long. The modern age needs the well educated. The future world is highly competitive. If we idle away our time while young we shall regret it in vain when we are old. From now on I will concentrate all my energy on my studies as to qualify myself as a talent in the 21st century. Time and tide wait for no man. I should value my timesubjectOf all the subjects I study i like math best. I think it is reasonable. You know math helps you to exercise your brains, and make you smarter and more intelligent. Math can be applied in all fields, and naturally it is said that math is the father of all subjects.Math has been developing rapidly. In the development of science and technology, there continuously appear problems which may be solved only with the help of math. This in turn makes math itself develop faster. Many examples can be cited to show the synchronous development of math and technology and science. From this point of view, we are sure to say that math will develop still faster, for science and technology will continue to advance without stop.However, math is not easy to master. It requires a high degree of intelligence. You can see some children who often fail to pass their math examination, but others deal with it very easily. This difference obviously comes from the levels of intelligence. But what is most important in mastering math is ones hard work. Though one is less clever, he can master it through diligence. Countless facts have proved this point. Math is a challenge and that is why I like it.家庭成员参考内容I knew a child who is so cute. His nickname is AnAn. He is 5 years old and now lives with his grandmother. He has got very dark hair and a few teeth in his mouth. He is always happy every day and you can hear his laughter in a long distance away. That often makes me recall of my childhood, which was also characterized as carefree. And, he can always think out lots of questions which are so unbelievable for you to answer. For example, one day he asked me why he can't fly as the birds do. I was really startled to hear such a question. I often bring him to the store to buy him all kinds of food he liked and of course he liked sweets best. He is very helpful and has a kind heart. I often see him helping old people living nearby carry things. One day, I was shocked to see him leading an old man to cross the road, for he's only 5 after all. Childhood is the happiest and easiest time in one's life and I always dream about returning to the past. I love AnAn very much. I met my best friend in university who was in the same class as me. at the beginning of our relationship, he scolded me for my noisiness in the class, and we had a quarrel that day. however, after a while, i discovered that he, in fact, was not as bad as i thought. so we began to talk with each other and little by little we became friends. we usually play computer games together. he was good at computer and helped me when there was something wrong with my computer. i learned a lot from him. he is a little shy when he meets a stranger, especially a girl he is not familiar with. he is sincere to everyone. he also has many hobbies, such as playing volleyball or soccer. we always support each other whenever the other one needs help. we always keep our heart open and we share our happiness and our secrets with each other. theres a proverb "a friend in need is a friend indeed". and i think our friendship will last forever. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
