1) There has been a discussion recently in the newspaper about the picture _____, _____. Simply designed as it is, the symbolic meaning the picture conveys is deep and profound. Just as the picture shows, _____. 2) Drawings can be useful tools. a simple picture may reveal a profound truth. The illustration above, for instance, is far from complicated, and yet carries deep implications: _____. Needless to say, _____.

3) With the remarkable development in economy in our country, it is obvious that our living standards have been greatly improved. However, to our great surprise, the economic development at the same time leads to severe environmental pollution. Therefore, we are possibly heading for a variety of environmental disasters though it is not our desire to do so. 4) With the reform and opening-up policy in our country, people all over the country are becoming better and better off. However, the opening-up policy at same time contributes to the fact that many talents / technologists and scientists are going abroad for their further development. As a matter of fact, the brain drain means a great loss of human resources to our country as well as to the development of the our country. 5) Take the first President George Washington for example. It is honesty that helps him to win his father ' s trust. Another case in point is the criminals who have just been arrested by the police. It they tell the truth, they will be more likely to stay in prison for fewer years than they deserve.

Otherwise, they will be punished more severely by law. 6) Since the social problem is quite troublesome, we should take effective steps to change the current situation. For one thing, it is high time that the people all over the country realized the seriousness of the problem. For another, the government should issue strict laws and regulations so as to put the problem under control. Only when the government and the citizens join their hands in the efforts can we hope to solve the problem satisfactorily. 7) All that has been discussed above points out an indisputable fact that _____. In other words, we should, without any doubt, _____. However, _____ is not to be testified by the tongue. instead it is manifested in action. In other words, we should not hesitate a moment to take actions in our daily life. 8). Through the analysis above, it is obvious that the positive aspects far outweigh its negative aspects. Whatever effects it has, one thing is certain: the thing itself is neither good nor bad. It is the usage to which it is put that determines its value to our society. 9) To solve the problem, both the government and society, I think, should make a sustained effort. In other words, if the government and the society work hard to change the current situation, there is certain to be an encouraging prospect in the future. Otherwise, the prospect will be rather depressing indeed. 10) Such changes have had a positive impact on individuals as well as on the society. On the one hand, they are fairly beneficial to the rapid development of our country. On the other hand, they contribute favorably to the improvement of people ' s living standards. 11) It goes without saying that today ' s

remarkable development in our country calls for / appeals to the change of the current situations because problems like these not only greatly disappoint the people but also hamper the future development of our country
