Directions: For this part, you are allowed thirty minutes to write a composition on the topic Follow the Traffic Rules. You should write about 150 words and you should base your composition on the picture and outline below and remember to write neatly.

- 1) The two riders common character.
- 2) Run into each other.
- 3) Lesson to us.

The two young men are both reckless riders that people often meet. They have shiny bicycles and often ride with full speed because they believe that the others on the street dare not run into him. They even pay little attention to the red light at the cross of streets. Now they happen to be riding in the same street, along the same side but from opposite directions. Neither of them wants to give way to the other. “ Great minds think alike and fools seldom differ. ” Today their minds happen to run along the same line: “ Anyway he won ’ t dare to run into me. ” In no time will they be both on the ground and roll together into the same ditch. It seems likely that both sides will suffer severe injuries. From this incident they should draw the same lesson: follow the traffic rules, or terrible accidents will happen at any time. And, hopefully, everyone should get a lesson too.
