Responsibility is the embodiment of morality. It demands that people do certain things for the other people or the country, not thinking of reward. One person should be accountable to his parents or his own family after having arrived at manhood. An employee shouldn't neglect his duty come what may. However, many people are always asking for rights, avoiding any responsibility. They only think they are entitled to fashionable clothes, extravagant houses and lots of money. Thus, there occurred a great many events. For example, some doctors even leave medical apparatuses in the patient's stomach after operation, which may cause death. Then, how to solve this increasingly serious problem? Above all, the government should intensify the education of children about responsibility and improve people's realization of the necessity of taking responsibility. If everyone did things immorally and irresponsibly, the whole world would be thrown into chaos. In the second place, laws should be established that anyone who defaults responsibility is to be punished financially or bodily. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
