Considerable concern on this matter has arisen since environment is so important to the living in this world. What measures should be taken to deal with the situation? First, we should take good care of our living environment persistently, which demands good manner and patience. We should cherish the flowers, grass, trees, lovely stream, lakes and rivers. We should be aware not to litter rubbish everywhere. Moreover, we can plant trees and grass at some suitable places to make the environment around us more agreeable and splendid. In fact, all these can be considered as our duty and obligation. Secondly, we should be in sober earnest when facing the problem of environmental protection. The pollution of air, water, and the over-strain of natural resources are causing damage and disaster to our human beings and many kinds of wild animals. So we must enhance the recognition of environmental problems caused by human beings themselves, and should make all the people in the world get a clear understanding of the dangerous situation we are in. Moreover, we must tell the young generation about environment protection. By and large people should have highly realize the significance of environmental protection, and get down to business, that is, to act immediately. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
