Swanbeck (from a recorded tape): Good morning Mr. Hunt. your mission, should you choose to accept it involves recovery of a stolen item designated 1) Chimera. You may 0select any two team members but it is essential that the third team member be Nyah Nordoff-Hall. She is a civilian and a highly capable professional thief. You have 48 hours to 2) recruit Miss Nordoff-Hall and meet me in 3) Seville to receive your assignment. As always, should you or any member of your 4) IMforce be caught or killed the secretary will 5) disavow all knowledge of your actions. And Mr. Hunt, the next time you go on holiday, please be good enough to let us know where you are going. Recording Hint: This message will self-destruct in five seconds. Hunt: If I let you know where Im going, then I wont be on holiday. Hall: Now, who are you and whats it gonna cost me? Hunt: I wouldnt do that. Hall: What? (Hall closes the cover and the alarm begins to ring.) Hunt: That. (The Spanish security guards hurry into the room.) Spanish: Mr. Case, it is you. (to his men) It is Mr. Case, our security engineer. Apologize! Hunt: No. No. No need to apologize. Now Miss Hall, my associate has your necklace in a very safe place, but obviously we do feel the alarm should have gone off a little sooner. Isnt that right Miss Hall? Hall: Umm, oh, absolutely. Much, much too long Id say. Hunt: Under the circumstances I think wed recommend resetting the sensors to respond to a lighter load. How do you feel about 40 kilos Miss Hall? Hall: Perfect. Hunt: Shall we? (Hunt extends his hand to Hall. He suddenly stops as they are leaving.) Miss Hall? Hall: Um huh? Hunt: Havent you forgotten something? (Hall unwillingly takes out the necklace.) Spanish: What are you trying to do 6) Stra? Rob me? Hall: The thought had crossed my mind. Im missing something here aside from my half million pound necklace. Even if i 7) screwed up the job, I could have walked out of there with the 8) bloody thing. hunt: At least you walked. Hall: If you werent going to let me get away with it ,why did you watch me go through with it? Hunt: I wanted to see how good you were. I was hoping we might work together. Hall: Sounds terrific. (to the valet) 9) Muchachos! Now be serious. Whatever it is you are talking about, you couldnt possibly want me after tonights performance. Hunt: You didnt do that bad. Hall: You apologizing for me? Quite the gentleman, perhaps. Hunt: Not really. I 10) triggered the alarm. (Hunt triggers the alarm again.) Sorry. Hall: I dont do laundry, cook, or 11) put up with cheating 12) bastards who 13) set me up on their 14) territories and then can 15) purge their mind. (The next day, Hall drives at full speed on the highway. Hunt tries to catch up with Halls car.) Hunt: 16) Pull over and listen to me, will you? Just listen. Hall: Listen to what? Hunt: I need your help, and I think you could use mine. Hall: Your help? What are you talking about? Hunt: You heard about 17) Scotland Yard? 18) Interpol? Interstate Authority? I can make them all go away. Hall: Oh, bloody hell. Youre a spy. But if you want me, you gotta catch me. Swanbeck: Now someone on that flight planned an operation designed to bring the plane down and make it look like an accident. Someone skillful enough to bring the whole thing off without a hitch. Hunt: So there is one thing we know that Ambrose doesn't. Swanbeck: You do think it was Ambrose? You're not surprised. Hunt: Sean feels he hasn't done the job unless he leaves a lot of hats on the ground. Swanbeck: Yeah, the question is why. What was this Chimera the culprits are carrying? Hunt: Only Ambrose knows that. Swanbeck: In any case you must recover this whatever Chimera and bring it to us. Hunt: Not only that but I have to figure out how he plans to make money with it. Swanbeck: That is where Miss Hall comes in. Hunt: Excuse me. Swanbeck: Miss Hall and Ambrose had a relationship which he took very seriously. She walked away and he has been wanting her back ever since. We believe she's our surest and quickest way of locating him. Hunt: And then what? Swanbeck: Well, make sure she continues to see him, gets him to confide in her and report to you. Hunt: You made it sound as if I was recruiting her for her skills as a thief. Swanbeck: Well then I misled you or you made the wrong assumption. Either way we are asking her to resume a prior relationship, not do anything she hasn't already done, voluntarily I might add. Hunt: No. She's got no training for this kind of thing. Swanbeck: What? To go to bed with a man and lie to him? She's a woman. She's got all the training she needs. Hunt: I don't think I can get her to do it. Swanbeck: You mean it will be difficult? Hunt: Very. Swanbeck: Well this is not Mission Difficult, Mr. Hunt, it's Mission Impossible. Difficult should be a walk in the park for you. I'm open to a suggestion if you can think of a quicker

way to get to Ambrose. You're welcome to try. By the way, you might want to take a look at these if you have any further qualms about getting her to do the job. (Hunt makes others believe that Hall is arrested by the police. Sean Ambrose falls into Hunt's trap by releasing Hall and bringing her to Sydney, where he is staying.) Nekhorvich (from a video tape): Every search for a hero must begin with something that the hero requires, a villain. Therefore in a search for our hero, Bellerophon, we created a monster, Chimera. Luther: Nekhorvich was a molecular biologist. Why was he going on about an old Greek myth? Hunt: Nekhorvich specialized in recombining DNA molecules. In the myth, Bellerophon was a prince who killed the Chimera, the monster with the head of a lion and the tail of a serpent who plagued the ancient world. I think Nekhorvich created a monster virus in Chimera, and the anti-virus to kill it in Bellerophon. Luther: That simple, huh? Hunt: Why not? (Hunt comes to see whether Luther has set up a blue print of the Biocyte on the computer.) Hunt: Building up and running yet? That's not exactly it. Luther: Sorry, but this is a Biocyte facility, a storage structure. I'll have it up in a minute. OK, take a look at this. Hunt: Start from the inside out. Luther: All storage and production of Chimera is done here in this lab on the 42nd floor. Sean: Hunt's target will be the Chimera stored and manufactured at Biocyte on the 42nd floor. If you look at Hunt's operational history, and I have, he invariably favors misdirection over confrontation. He'll never break into Biocyte from the bottom where security is the heaviest. Luther: No garage entrances. Lobbies protected by five guards on a 27) rotating patrol. Hunt: Not going in from the ground. Show me the 28) atrium. Luther: The atrium? One of a kind. Runs down through the center of the building. Provides 24-hour natural light via mirrors and daylight storage cells.

29) Optimal growing conditions for the virus. Ends in a glass floor which doubles as part of the lab ceiling. The atrium roof closes at sundown and if the 30) louvers are up for more than 40 seconds at night, the civil emergency alarms are tripped. Those even I cant stop. Ethan, we have a total of 40 seconds to get you in and the cables out. Sean: No. Hunt will prefer to enter Biocyte somewhere from the top where security is minimal. Hell undoubtedly engage in some 31) acrobatic 32) insanity before hell risk harming a hair on a security guards head. Hunt: You get that copy? Billy: Five on five. Hunt: Luther, How we doing? Luther: Not there yet, Ethan, but Ill give you the word. Hunt: Billy, ready to go? Billy: OK, 33) anchors away in five. Luther: Im not ready the louvers arent moving. Billy: Come on Luther, we gotta go. Luther: Wait, theres a break-in access code. Billy: Luther, were out of time. On the count. Luther: Come on baby. Open up. Open up. Billy: 5, 4... Luther: Come on. Billy: 3, 2, 1. Hunt: Were going down. Luther: Ethan wait! Hunt: There it is guys, the last bit. What is the top 34) bid? Sean: Why? You going to make me a better offer? Hunt: iexcl. ê 37 million. (While Hall is talking to Sean, Hunt sets off a bomb. This gives him time to grab Hall and head for cover.) Hunt: What do you think you were doing? Hall: I wasnt thinking. Just trying to stop you from getting hurt, thats all. Hunt: You who dont have a conscience. (Hunt tries to find a way to get the both of them out of the building but he cant.)Hall: I guess I lied. You cant get us both out of here, can you? (Hall takes Hunts gun and points it at her chest.) Im infected with Chimera. You know you dont have a choice, just do it. Do it now!(Before he leaves Hall, Hunt promises to get the antivirus to save her.)Hunt: Youve got 19 hours and 58 minutes. Ill get Bellerophon into your 36)system before then. Just stay alive. Im not going to lose you! 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
