(2)According to the chart, in 2000, 68% of families owned computers, compared with 25% in 1995 and only 4% 10 years ago.(3)Like TV, computers benefit people hugely. (4)With the computer, the home will become a library, a school, an office and an entertainment center. (5)All transactions, from banking to shopping, will be performed electronically and all information, from train schedules to discount-price goods, will be as close as the press of a key. (6)In addition to providing us many of the facilities and services we now must , with the Internet, the computer will even let us communicate directly with other homes and with information sources worldwide. (7)Despite the increase in efficiency and convenience generated by the computer, the changes it brings could very well lead to potentially adverse consequences. (8)For example, as nearly all activities could be conducted in the comfort of our homes, we could all become hermit-like, never feeling any need to leave the house. (9)This would be unfortunate because our children especially will become so addicted to computers that they might never be exposed to social interaction. (10)Unquestionably, the challenge of the home

computer means we all should consider how we can control it, so that it won't control us. (2)College students are working as tutors, salespersons, engineers and doing whatever work they can find. (3)Why do they want odd jobs jobs usually requiring little skill and knowledge? (4)The primary reason, I think, is money. (5)Feeling the financial pressure as books, movies and bus fares have all gone up in price, there is scarcely a young boy or girl who does not want to earn a little money to help cover the increasingly higher college costs, and at best save enough to traveling or buy things they have long desired. (6)In this way they hope to be financially independent and avoid the indignity of having to ask for money again and again. (7)Besides they want to gain some experience in the ways of society. (8)Students growing up from nursery school to college with realities. (9)Working on a part-time basis can provide them with a rare opportunity to know the outside world and prepare them for a future career. (10)The significance of college students doing a part-time job means more than money and experience: It will broaden their outlook and exert a profound influence on their personality and life. 市相继出现2 . 你对这种公共汽车的看法Dear editors:(1)In recent years more and more automated collection buses are running on the streets of big cities. (2)While they are praised as “ an advance in technology ” , I hold an opposite view.(3)Automated collection buses don ’ t fit the socioeconomic circumstances of our country. (4)To judge a particular technology, appropriateness is a sole criterion. (5)That ’ s to say, any technology introduced or solution adopted should take into account the unique economic, ecological, cultural and social conditions within which a specific problem exists. (6)For example, bicycles can provide more efficient transportation than automobiles in congested cities, and “ barefoot doctors ” in large rural areas may meet more health needs than highly sophisticated hospitals. (7)The same applies automated collection buses. (8)In a labor-rich country where more and more people are laid off because there are not enough jobs available, people-oriented machines are more suitable than technology-oriented ones. (9)Ordinary buses can not only offer a large number of job opportunities but also create a homey atmosphere which is badly needed in an increasingly impersonal society.(10)For these reasons, I don ’ t think that the automated collection bus is appropriate in our country, at least at present.查看全文.....分析型作文Models: A Five-day Week1 . 从1995年起我国实行了五天工作制2 . 五天工作制的好处3 . 结论(1)For the first time in history, a five-day week was officially adopted across China in May,1995. (2)It has found an immediate welcome and much popularity ever since.(3)Indeed, there are many obvious advantages to a five-day week. (4)First, it provides an individual with time and leisure for personality development. (5)With it, he is able to pursue his intellectual interests and other personal hobbies, a thing he has long desired but found impossible in the past when he only had one day off in a week and could barely arrange the household. (6)Second, the quality of life has greatly improved. (7)A long holiday makes it possible for people to go traveling around the country and even abroad. (8)Finally, two-day weekend has promoted the growth of the consuming market. (9)For an increasing number of people choose to go traveling and shopping at weekends instead of staying at home--a new habit which is beneficial to nation ' s economy.(10)A five-day week benefits more than individually and economically, and with the passage of time, it will show more profound significance. 查看全文.....比较型作文Models : A1A2A3--B1B2B3City Life and Suburban Life1 . 最近几年越来越多的人迁往近郊居住2 . 城市生活和近郊生活各有特点3 . 比较起来 , 我喜欢的是...

(1)In recent years more and more homes are being pushed outwards as the activities of business, government and pleasure tend to be concentrated in the centers of the cities. (2)Although most people are reluctant to move to the outskirts of the cities, I feel like living in the suburbs. (3)It is true that the city can provide much convenience and entertainment, the very reason people can ' t bear to part with city life. (4)But the cost for the privilege of living in the city is also high. (5)Just think of the places where we live, full of petrol fumes and toxic gases, torn by the roar of buses and lorries day and night, and thronged ceaselessly by great crowds. (6)Besides, as the housing problem in the central city gets more serious, people have to pay high rents for very tiny flats which I would certainly disdain to live in.

(7) In contrast, living near the countryside one can enjoy the clean atmosphere, the closeness to nature and the quiet, peaceful surrounding the essentials of a healthy life. (8) Nothing can be compared, as the pace of modern life is getting quicker, with the first cock crow, the twittering of birds at dawn, and sight of the rising sun glinting on the trees and green fields. (9) Although living in the suburbs you may suffer a little discomfort brought about by the necessity of traveling miles to work every day, the situation will change soon as many highways and subways are being constructed. (10) The new suburban life is fast becoming a predominant pattern of living in most cities. and with the development of traffic and the perfection of services, it will prove to hold great superiority over city life. 查看全文.....四六级常用的写作方法(不断更新添加中... ..)教你写作文：四六级作文的开头、正文、结尾备考六月：英语四六级作文如何步步为营 更多听力资料请访问考试吧四六级写作栏目..... 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
