We cannot grow any flower without it. It acknowledges our efforts and eases our tiredness, nervousness and weakness. An ounce of praise is worth a pound of scolding. Behavioral scientists have done countless experiments to prove that any human being tends to repeat an act which has been immediately followed by a pleasant result. We really appreciate people's compliments which are transforming a kind of motivation which urges us to go forward. To give praise cost the giver nothing but a moment's thought and a moment's effort. Considering the good effect, we should never hesitate to praise Mark Twain's words once confirmed this belief " I can live for two months on a good compliment. " SECTION B NOTE-WRITING Dear Alice: I was so sorry to learn of your illness. You must hurry and get well! Everyone in our class misses you, and we're all hoping you'll be back soon. Yours, Tom PART LISTENING
