What are some important qualities of a good supervisor (boss)? Use specific details and examples to explain why these qualities are important. Although we work in the different companies, the standards of evaluating a good supervisor are same. A good supervisor must be a good leader who manages the running of the whole company and brings profit to company. In the following discussion, I would like to illustrate my points what are the important qualities of a good supervisor. First and also the most outstanding qualities of a good supervisor has integrity and justice. A good supervisor must be righteous what means he or she treating every subordinate fairly. A good supervisor shall not look down upon subordinates because of their races, clothes, working abilities or characters. A good supervisor shall give every employee equal chances so that he or she shall not set up a standard of evaluating subordinates just according to whether he or she likes this person or not. Every subordinate has chance to develop and be promoted in the company as long as he or she gains achievement in work. Don ' t you think it is because we have a good and fair supervisor? Another chief and head important quality of a good supervisor is that he or she is good at organizing the company and arranging every subordinate to an appropriate position. A good supervisor shall acquaint with every employee ' s speciality so that he or she can make full use of every employee ' s talent. Such as who is good at marketing, a good supervisor shall arrange him or her to sales department. Who is good at researching, a good supervisor shall arrange him or she to project department. In this working environment, everyone works happy and active, so the working efficiency must be increased. Don't you think we need a supervisor like this? Last but not the least is that a good supervisor must care about every subordinate. He or she shall help subordinates when they meet difficulties not only in work but also at home. One of my co-workers was ever in hospital because of serious sickness. My supervisor not only went to see him but also donated money to him for operating. Of course, a good supervisor shall have other qualities, such as he or she has good knowledge and skills in the field, he or she is familiar with the information of market, he or she accepts subordinate's suggestion modestly and so on. But I think the qualities I provided above are more important than others. Don't you have the same viewpoint with me? 179.

What are some of the qualities of a good parent? Use specific details and examples to explain your answer. Every one has parents. What are the good qualities of a good parent? Different people hold different views. Some people think good parents shall give their children enough pocket money to buy what they want, some people think good parents shall be strict to their children. What qualities of a good parent do I think? In the following discussion, I would like to provide my opinion. First and most important quality of good parents is they shall be children's friends, treat children like their sister or brother, not like their mother or father. Nowadays, we often talk about a gap between two generations. What is a generation gap? I think it is a misunderstanding between parents and children. As good parents, they shall read and watch some entertainment news and fashion news not only political news or sports news so that they will have same topics to talk with their children. Such as who is the “ American Idol ” this year? Which skirts and shoes are fashionable this year? Which movie is the best one this year? If parents could do these, I thought they are good parents to children. Another head and chief important quality of good parents is that they shall teach children what is right and what is wrong. There is an ancient proverb in China: A good child must have a good parent. I agree this opinion very much because parents are children ’ s first teachers. Their behaviors and actions influence children directly and they are models for children to follow. Good parents shall teach children to behave politely in public and also they do it themselves. For example, my parents taught me to say “ thank you ” if someone helped you, to say “ sorry ” if you disturbed someone, to say “ hello ” if you met someone. These instructions make me to be a polite person since I were a child. Do you support my opinion? Last but not the least is that good parents shall trust their children. They shall give enough private space to their children. They don ’ t read children ’ s diaries or letters, they don ’ t search children ’ s drawers, they respect children ’ s decisions. Don ’ t you think that children will be happy because they have parents like these? To sum up, good parents shall have other qualities, such as they help children to solve problems or make decisions, they play with children when they are free. But I think nothing is more important than what I provided above. Do you have the same view with me? 100Test 下载频道开通, 各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
