As a matter of fact, all forms of life need both sun and rain, but any excess of the two can bring trouble or even disasters to the world. Thus if there is anyone who complains of the excessive rainfall in this winter, his complaint is understandable. Anyway, how many people can bear to see the world darkened and dampened because of the rain almost every day? The continual rain is really boring, but I find that in addition to sunshine there are lots of things which can make me cheerful too. So, if the Goddess of Rain doesn't feel like stopping crying, the best thing we can do is let an invisible sun shine in our hearts. Furthermore, many signs show that this rainiest winter will soon be gone and spring will shortly be in sight. 第二篇：It is very inconvenient for me to go out on a rainy day. Especially if it is a rainy day in winter. If I find my clothes or shoes or both wetted in the rain. I am usually in a bad mood and make a mess of everything. Getting clothes and shoes wetted on a rainy wintry day can also make me catch cold. This winter is said to be rainier than the past winters so you can figure out what a hard time I have so far had. Because this is my last term as a student I am mad about learning everything, fearing as if I had no more chance to learn. In spite of the rain I had to leave my dormitory to attend classes on the campus. So you can imagine how I cursed the seemingly rain. Right now my greatest hope is only that the rains will soon be over. 第三篇 : This is the rainiest winter I have ever passed. During this long period I heard all kinds of complaints whenever I went out, coming mostly from merchants, farmers and, especially, students. The weather, however, didnt bother me much, for what interests me most is reading indoors. This winter I spent most of my time staying in my small attic, enjoying reading my favorite books and sometimes, if I got tired of reading, watching the beautiful scenery outside the window overlooking a small river close by my house. On those rare occasions when the skies cleared up I would direct my gaze to those 第四篇 : This winter is the rainiest winter I have ever experienced. Since last December the rain has been falling almost unceasingly. The cloudy and weeping sky was a depressing sight to me most of the mornings. still, I had to put on my raincoat and start my motorcycle so that I could report to work on time. The weather bureau said it had registered a record rainfall in eighty years. Eighty years? This is the first time my grandma has seen such a long spell of rain! The farmers are sad, worrying about the stunted rice plants in the rain. The housewives frown at the soaring price of vegetables. Furthermore, if you have a little baby, are sure to get into a lot of trouble. It takes a long time to have the diapers dried--not really dry but still a little damp. Do you want to buy a dryer? Sorry, It ' s not available at the shops. The only way around this problem is perhaps to buy many "Pampers." Despite people ' s complaining, praying and hoping against hope, the rain has gone on almost without any letup. Everywhere you could hear people say, “ It starts to rain again ” or “ Oh, such lousy weather ! ” or something like that. Although most people feel bad after such a long period of rain, there are some who are actually happy about this freaky weather. The taxi drivers, for example, have gotten an income thrice as much as what they usually get. The gloomy days have lasted so long that I can hardly remember when last saw the beautiful golden sunshine. One day my three-year-old daughter asked me, “ Mama. How come the book tells me the sky is blue, but it is not? ” I simply didn ’ t know how to answer her. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
