's Standard of Living The "standard of living" of any country means the average person's share of the goods and services the country produces. A country's standard of living, _____1_____, depends first and _____2_____ on its capacity to produce wealth. "Wealth" in this sense is not money, for we do not live on money _____3_____ on things that money can buy: "goods" such as food and clothing, and "services" such as transport and "entertainment" 1. A country's capacity to produce wealth depends upon many factors, most of _____4_____ have an effect on one another. Wealth depends _____5_____ a great extent upon a country's natural resources. Some regions of the world are well supplied with coal and minerals, and have fertile soil and a favorable climate. other regions possess none of them. Next to natural resources _____6_____ the ability to turn them to use. China is perhaps as well-off _____7_____ the USA in natural resources, but suffered for many years from civil and external war, and _____8_____ this and other reasons was _____9_____ to develop her resources. Sound and stable political conditions, and _____10_____ from foreign invasions, enable a country to develop its natural resources peacefully and steadily, and to produce more wealth than another country equally well favoured by nature but less well ordered 2. A country's standard of living does not only depend upon the wealth that is produced and consumed _____11_____ its own borders, but also upon what is directly produced through international trade. _____12_____, Britain ' s wealth in foodstuffs and other agricultural products would be much less if she had to depend only on _____13_____ grown at home. Trade makes it possible for her surplus manufactured goods to be traded abroad for the agricultural products that would _____14_____ be lacking. A country ' s wealth is, therefore, much influenced by its manufacturing capacity, _____15_____ that other countries can be found ready to accept its manufactures.
