In the US, children usually leave home once they graduate from high school, and find a job or go to college. This is true of both males and females. It is not uncommon, for example, for a young single woman to live alone in an apartment or to share one with one or more others. Many parents would prefer to have their children stay at home until they get married, but once they 've grown up, young people often feel a need for independence from their parents and go to live apart from home. 对话 Jessie:Mrs. Lee, have you always lived in Suzhou? Mrs. Lee:All my life. As a matter of fact, I was born in this house. That ' s the way it used to be in the old days. People never used to move away from their hometown. You were born in a place, and you lived there until you died. Jessie:Your first husband died ten years ago? Mrs. Lee:Yes, at the age of 92. We had 70 wonderful years together. We were very much alike. Both of us loved to talk to others. People used to talk to each other in the old days. Now they watch TV. Jessie:Mrs. Lee, you ' ve already lived a 100 years and you look as if you might live another hundred years. What ' s your secret? Mrs. Lee:Well, I laugh a lot. That ' s very important. And I keep busy. I get a lot of exercise too. I ' ve always enjoyed sports. I went skiing and horseback riding regularly until I was 85. And I ' ve always liked swimming. In fact, I still swim every day at the swimming pool, and I ' ve started running a little with my second husband. Jessie:When did you remarry? Mrs. Lee:Six years ago. I was 94 and he was a young man of 80. A lot of people say I robbed the cradle! Jessie:Mrs. Lee, you ' re a hundred year old now. How do you feel? Mrs. Lee:Great!
