Most of them live quiet lives just ___B_1___ anyone else. Some gay people have always raised children, ___D_2___ or with partners, and the use of artificial insemination is increasing among lesbians. Gay persons are in every kind of job. Some are very open about their homosexuality, and some are more private¹. Some ___D_3___ their sexual orientation as a biological given² and others as a choice. For those women who see it as a choice, one reason often given is the inequality in most heterosexual relationships.³ Homosexuality has been common in most cultures throughout history and generally ___A_4___. As a result, homosexual activity became a crime, ___C_5___ which the penalty in early courts was death. Homosexual behavior is still ___B_6___ in many countries and U.S. states. Homosexuality later came to be viewed widely as less a sin than a sickness⁴, but now no mental-health profession any longer ___B_7___ homosexuality an illness. More recent theories to ___A_8___ for homosexuality have included those based on biological and sociological factors. To date⁵, ___C_9___, there is no conclusive general theory that can explain the cause of homosexuality. Attitudes ___D_10___ homosexuality began to change in the second half of the 20th century. Gays attribute this, in part, to their own struggle for their rights and pride in their orientation.⁶ Some large companies now

___C___11_____ health-care benefits to the life partners of their gay employees. Many cities also have officially appointed lesbian and gay advisory committees. ___B___12_____ some attitudes have changed, however, prejudice still exists, and in the late 1980s and early 1990s there were considerable shouts against homosexuals, with attempts to _____13___A___ laws forbidding the granting of basic civil rights to gays. The AIDS epidemic, which started in the 1980s, has devastated the gay community and brought it together as never before.⁷ The organized gay response to the lack of government financial support for fighting AIDS and to the needs of the thousands of AIDS victims, _____D___14_____ they be gays or not, has been a model of community action. AIDS, however, has also ___C___15_____ people with another reason for their prejudice.
