Everyone has his own preference. I would like to study with a group of people. Those who choose to study alone would say that the reason is that studying alone can make them learn to think by themselves and independently . Although I agree with them, studying in a group doesnt prevent people from thinking things independently. They still have this freedom and right. They would give each other some time to solve one problem individually and then discuss it together. So studying together also has this advantage. Further more, studying with a group can develop the spirit of team. Nowadays team work is an important skill and experience to a person. Those who prefer study alone may have the disadvantage to trust themselves only and have no habit to discuss with others. On the other hand, those who have a habit to study with others can naturally cooperate with their colleagues well. Last but not least, to those who like to study together success would prefer them. In China, there is an old proverb "of a couple of people ,there may be a teacher of mine." Everyone will have his character and value. People would learn all kinds of things from the folks around him. Maybe others idea can give you numerous sparkles of mind and can give you creative clues. This point cannot be achieve by those who study alone. All in all , I personally think studying in a group has more advantages than studying alone. The experience of cooperating with other persons is wonderful, which people who prefer to study alone cannot taste and feel. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
