47. Q: how to run a meeting successfully A: 此题看似专业但实际上和“选择参加一个会议时应注意什么”等问题类似，主要可从：agenda；timetable. content. length等方面回答。

48. The importance of packaging products appropriately A: the packaging of our products is in fact a kind of advertisement for our products. So when we decide on packaging for products we must first consider if the packaging can reflect the image of our products.

It must best represent the quality of our products through its design and layout which can attract our customers to buy our products. The packaging should show the distinctive features of our products so that every customer can have a better understanding of our products after just taking a look at our products. And we should make sure that the customers can identify our products immediately through the packaging. Besides, the production process decides the physical characters of your products. For example, what they are made of, metal glass or wood? Because of these characters you have to select different kind of packaging. For example being fragile your products made of glass should be packaged in a soft container which can stand the impact of collision. Your wood products should be kept in the anti-wet and anti-mold packaging. As for metal products anti-wet and anti-rust packaging is necessary. Appropriate packaging can ensure the quality of your products during the delivery. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
