移动电话给我们的生活带来了便利 2 . 移动电话有时也会影响别人3 . 在某些场合请关掉你的手机With the development of information technology and reduced price of communication products, the mobile phone has become a necessity for most people. Obviously, it shortens the distance between people and makes our life more convenient. Thanks to it, it ' s easy for us to contact or be contacted by others anytime and anywhere. We will never miss any important meetings , great deals or admirable opportunities。 But , have you noticed sometimes the mobile phone also brings embarrassment to us? It ' s not rare to see someone pressing the mobile phone to his ear and shouting loudly in public as if there were no one else present. And I ' m sure each one has had such an experience that the mobile phone rings continuously on a formal occasion. Perhaps these people have many life-and-death reasons to keep the phone working at all times, but it interrupts people around them who have to hear what they don ' t care when they want to concentrate on what they ' re doing. So if you are one of them, please shut off your cell phone in public, especially on a quiet and serious occasion. It ' s a respect for both others and yourself.
