

BEC中级阅读：阿根廷总统卸任第一夫人登基 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/497/2021_2022_BEC_E4_B8_AD_E7_BA_A7_E9_c85_497703.htm Argentine President Cristina Fernandez (2nd R), her husband, outgoing President Nestor Kirchner (L), daughter Florencia (R) and son Maximo, appear on stage in front of the Casa Rosada Government Palace in Buenos Aires December 10, 2007. [Agencies] Cristina Fernandez de Kirchner sworn in as Argentinas president on Monday for four-year term after winning elections on October 28. She received the sash of office from her husband, Nestor Kirchner, the outgoing head of state and became the first woman to be elected president of Argentina. Chants of "Viva Cristina" erupted as Kirchner effectively traded her position as first lady for that of president. Kirchner, a social-democrat who is often compared to New York Senator Hillary Clinton, was sworn in before the two chambers of Congress and in the presence of 160 foreign delegations. In her first speech as president, Kirchner vowed to wage a war on poverty. "There will be no definite triumph as long as there is poverty," she said. The new president hailed her husbands government, which she said battled tirelessly against unemployment and poverty. The new president has also vowed to follow the political continuity. The first-lady-turned-president made it clear her husband would not fade into the political background. "For me and for all Argentines, he will also continue being president," she said recently. As Argentinas first elected woman president, she was born in La Plata in Buenos Aires province on Feb. 19, 1953, and studied law at the School of Legal and Social Sciences of La Plata National University in the 1970s. She married Nestor Kirchner, her fellow university student, in 1975 before moving to the province of Santa Cruz, where the couple opened a law firm. Nestor Kirchner, who remained popular throughout his presidency, has not explained why he stepped aside for his wife instead of seeking another four-year term. 10月28日赢得阿根廷总统大选的克里斯蒂娜#8226.基什内尔于本周一宣誓就职，开始了她的四年总统任期。克里斯蒂娜从她的丈夫、前任总统奈斯特#8226.基什内尔结婚，之后，两人搬往圣克鲁斯省，并在当地开了一家律师事务所。执政期间一直颇受欢迎的前任总统奈斯特•.基什内尔并没有解释其不谋求四年连任，而让位于妻子的原因。 Vocabulary: wage a war(campaign):开始, 进行(战争 运动等) 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com