A collection of 35 poems by William Topaz McGonagall, often referred to as the "worlds worst poet" in the English language, has sold for $12,900 at an auction in Edinburgh. The collection, self-published by McGonagall, was sold by Lyon amp. Turnbull. "Hes appreciated because hes comedic." McGonagall, who died in 1902, was always proud of his work, despite the bad reception. He even produced a short autobiography, two copies of which were created and are inscribed with this tribute: "dedicated to himself, knowing none greater." His most infamous poem is called The Tay Bridge Disaster (1879), which recalled the tragedy in which 75 people died. "So the train movd slowly along the Bridge of Tay/Until it was about midway/Then the central girders with a crash gave way/And down went the train and passengers into the Tay." 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
