The jury at the inquests into the deaths of the couple announced their verdict on Monday. The jury blamed the deaths on a combination of the drunk chauffeur, Henri Paul, and the paparazzi who were dogging their final journey. Paul, who also died in the crash, was said to have been driving at twice the legal speed limit with three times the lefal limit of alcohol in his blood stream. The decision comes as a blow to Dodis father, Mohamed Al Fayed, who has claimed for many years that the two were murdered in a criminal conspiracy by the British establishment. Princes William and Harry said on Monday thanking the jurors for the "thorough" way they considered the evidence. They also thanked those who fought desperately to save their mothers life on that tragic night". Possible jury verdicts Murder: a serious crime. severe punishment will be imposed on the murderers Unlawful killing: a crime, but not as serious as a murder. It carries punishment, but in the case of Diana, the people who are responsible the dead driver and the paparazzi are beyond the jurisdiction of an English court, as they were all not British. Accidental death: the softest verdict among the three, and not a crime. The French judicial inquiry said the death of the Princess was an accident. 生词：allegedly 据称地 conspiracy 阴谋 definitive 权威性的 establishment 权势集团 inquest 审理 judicial 司法的 jurisdiction 权限 jury 陪审团 paparazzi 深刻的 verdict 裁决 Excerpts Prince William and Prince Harry issued a statement expressing thanks on Monday.
