My room is rather large, but I share it with another boarder. It ' s already November, but the autumn flowers are still in bloom. Just yesterday, I saw some lovely red blossoms along the roadside. These blessed flowers were perfect. They didn ' t have a single blemish. Seeing these flowers in the fall created a feeling of bliss. I had no idea that it would be the last I ' d see of them. Yesterday, my roommate had told me that there would be a blizzard today. He ' s always boasting that he knows the weather. I though it was just a bluff to get me to stay home from school. I was rather blunt in my reply. However, I blushed when I looked out of the window this morning and saw that he was right. I had to blink my eyes several times just to be sure. An overnight storm had bleached the ground with seventeen inches of snow. Because the roads were blocked by the snowfall, I wouldn't be able to board my usual bus to school. My outlook seemed rather bleak. Then my roommate said, "Hey, you really need to take a break from your studies. Why don't you just rest your brain, blend some fruit drinks, and listen to blues music?" "It's true, I'm probably in need of a rest," I replied. Well, it turned out to be the most relaxing day I've had all year. I guess the sudden storm was really a blessing in disguise! 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
