Our battleship was assigned to convoy an aircraft carrier to the Caribbean Sea. Our ship 's captain was in charge of coordination the voyage. We had a special cosmopolitan crew that was trained to cooperate with an international military force. Our mission of cooperation was to help restore order to a region whose government had suffered from years of corruption. On the thirteenth night if the voyage, there was a convivial party below the deck. Without warning, our ship hit something big. We rushed on deck to find that had broken off, exposing a huge steel hull below. Years of exposure to the corrosive effects of salt water had corroded parts of the hull. Through the corrosion, we could see that it was a battleship. We sent divers into the hull to investigate. At the core of the hull, they found a strange copper coffin. We brought it on board and opened it below the deck. We found a corpulent corpse and a letter of correspondence. The correspondence was written in what appeared to be cosmic code. I was able to correlate the code to letters in the English language. The result was shocking. It was a warning letter from the last survivor of the sunken ship. “ Stay in what appeared to be cosmic code. I was able to correlate the code to letters in the English language. The result was shocking. ” It was a warning letter from the last survivor of the sunken ship. “ Stay out of the Bermuda area, ” it said. Just then, I felt a huge wave roll over our ship. Our ship began to sink. I tumbled to the floor and lost consciousness. Then I heard a loud voice. “ Hey, wake up! ” my roommate yelled.
