

Chinese shares down 2.01 pct at midday 金融英语考试 PDF转换 可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/560/2021_2022_Chinese_sh_c92_560831.htm Chinese shares were 2.01 percent lower by midday Wednesday, led by financial and real estate companies amid concerns over weak second-quarter earnings, dealers said. 把英语三级加入收藏夹 The benchmark Shanghai Composite Index, which covers A and B shares, was down 49.09 points at 2,390.09. The key index saw its highest close in more than seven months in the previous session. "There are no real fundamentals to support the recent stock gains... Falls in the global stocks are also pressuring local shares," Wu Feng, an analyst at TX Investment, told Dow Jones Newswires. The Shanghai A-share index fell 51.59 points, or 2.01 percent, to 2,508.69, while the Shenzhen A-share index shed 11.88 points, or 1.40 percent, to 837.90. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com