Yesterday marked the first day that selling began to the public around the world via the four main Expo ticket agents in China and the rush came. Up to 5pm yesterday, about 55,000 tickets were sold during the day. Tickets for the first three days (May 1-3) and the National Day (October 1-7) holidays, known as peak-day tickets, were sold out at China Post, an operator on its hotline said. The Bank of Communications has begun to set daily limits on the number of peak-day tickets to be sold, its hotline said. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
