

5月雅思口语part 2必考话题：A skill you learned雅思(IELTS)考试 PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/638/2021_2022_5_E6_9C_88_E9_9B_85_E6_80_9D_c8_638213.htm 最近出现的新题不多，大多数都是老题，对于“一样你掌握的技能”这道题很多同学回答得不太满意，这个考题跟以前我发表过的“一个会做饭的人”其实用吴慧冬老师的TSE方法转变一下就很好说了。大多数同学回答都是想“学英语”，同学们从小学到大学一直在学英语，所以如果用学英语来回答这个话题过于牵强。如果你非得说语言，可以说成交际能力和谈判能力，这样会更好。以下是几个可选择的范围 (Driving, Swimming, Cooking, communication skill, etc) 下面的范围同学们参考下，把DRIVING SKILL换成你想要的表达的思路，用TSE试下。 gt.更多雅思考试名师预测 When it comes to one of the skills I have learned. I would like to talk about the driving skill. Number one, I didn't learn this skill all by myself but went to a driver training school, where I spent almost two months to learn it. Number two, driving today is almost an essential skill that everyone must have. Since people now are having a higher demand for transportation and automobiles are more affordable than before, lots of people have bought their private cars and learned to drive. I also have plans to buy my own car, maybe in the near future. Number three, as to how driving skill might change me or my life, I would say that there is but one I can think of now, which is it brings me much convenience. Just imagine, once being able to drive, I can go anywhere anytime and forget about all the annoyance of finding a bus stop and waiting at the bus stop. Well, I think it is pretty much of it. To sum up, driving is a very useful, if not essential, skill in modern-day, which may bring much convenient to one ' s life. On the down side of course I must consider what harm my new car will do the environment, the cheaper cars are not always the most environmentally friendly so perhaps I will look at one of the new technological type of car, either gas or electricity powered, But a car is needed badly. 相关链接：1月雅思考试网友机经汇总月刊 百考试题特别推荐雅思新手入门指导 2009年4月雅思考试最新信息整理 各国高校认可雅思考试成绩名单及分数要求 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com