The Certificate Craze 1.现在许多人热衷于各类证书考试 2.其目的各不相同 3.我的看法百考试题论坛 北京新东方学校 金凌虹

Almost no one in China has failed to notice the phenomenon that a growing number of people are enthusiastic about pursuing various kinds of certificates. Taking a look around, one can find numerous examples with ease. A common case in point is that students spend a great deal of time and energy attending a great variety of certificate-oriented training courses to ensure a better score。 The purpose of acquiring certificates varies from individuals to individuals. For students, as the job market competition is becoming increasingly fierce, not only can a certain certificate prove their capabilities, but also will put them in a favorable position in the employment market and the development of their career. When it comes to white-collared workers, more job-related certificates often guarantee greater opportunities for a salary raise and promotion. What ' s more, it is also a ideal way to enhance their job techniques and sharpen their competitiveness. From my perspective, the merits of pursuing certificates are self-evident. However, we should also bear in mind that it is the practical skills, such as management, cooperation, communication, rather than certificates that guarantee one ' s accomplishment in career. Accordingly, we might as well attach great importance to both certificates and the improvement of one ' s comprehensive abilities。 The Certificate Craze 北京新东方学校 王兆飞 There is no denying the fact that it has become a prevailing trend for people to take part in various exams with the purpose of obtaining certificates of many kinds: that for CET-4 or CET-6, that for computer level, the driver ' s license, etc。 Of course people pursue certificates for various purposes. Some claim that owning these certificates can give them more edge in competition. One more certificate means a bit more chance of winning in the job market. Others, however, merely take this practice as a stimulus for them to study or study harder. They assert that, by working for those certificates, they can broaden their horizon and enrich their knowledge。 Personally, I believe that one should choose to learn what he or she truly likes or really needs, instead of merely working for some certificates. As for me, I shall focus my energy on a few fields, for I believe concentration of attention and energy is the key to success. Besides, keen interest is the strongest motivation for study. To be specific, I would like to learn kungfu and Beijing Opera in my spare time. I may attend some relevant test(微博)s and be awarded certain certificates, but they are just a natural result of my study, instead of my motivation。 六级翻译(王兆飞)来源 : www.100test

In America, people are faced with more and more decisions every day, whether it's picking one of thirty-one ice cream (36)flavors, or deciding whether and when to get married. That sounds like a great thing, but as a recent study has shown, too many choices can make us (37)confused, unhappy, even paralyzed with indecision. ' That ' s (38)particularly true when it comes to the work place ' , says Barry Schwartz, an author of six books about human (39)behavior. Students are graduating with a (40)variety of skills and interests, but often find themselves (41)overwhelmed when it comes to choosing an ultimate career goal. In a study, Schwartz observed decision-making among college students during their (42)senior year. Based on answers to questions regarding their job hunting (43)strategies and career decisions, he divided the students into two groups : maximizers, who consider every possible option, and satisficers, who look until they find an option that is good enough. You might expect that the student (44)who had undertaken the most exhausted search would be the most satisfied with their final decision, but it turns out that ' s not true. Schwartz found that while maximizers ended up with better-paying jobs than satisficers on average, they weren ' t as happy with their decision. The reason (45)why these people feel less satisfied is that a world of possibilities may also be a world of missed opportunities. When you look at every possible option, you tend to focus more on what was given up than what was gained. After surveying every option, (46)a person is more acutely aware of the opportunities they had to turn down to pursue just one career。 点击进入：#ff0000>2011年6月英语四六级考试试题答案专题 编辑推荐：#0000ff>2011年6月英语六级考试试题(图片版) #0000ff>2011.6英语六级试题及答案解析汇总 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
