Why Would They Falsely Confess? Why on earth would an innocent person falsely confess to committing a crime? To most people, it just doesnt seem logical. But it is logical, say experts, if you understand what can happen in a police interrogation (审讯) room.百考试题论坛 Under the right conditions, peoples minds are susceptible (易受影响的) to influence, and the pressure put on suspects during police grillings (盘问) is enormous. _____ (46) "The pressure is important to understand, because otherwise its impossible to understand why someone would say he did something he didnt do. The answer is: to put an end to an uncomfortable situation that will continue until he does confess." Developmental psychologist Allison Redlich recently conducted a laboratory study to determine how likely people are to confess to things they didnt do. _____ (47) The researchers then intentionally crashed the computers and accused the participants of hitting the "alt" key to see if they would sign a statement falsely taking responsibility. Redlichs findings clearly demonstrate how easy it can be to get people to falsely confess: 59 percent of the young adults in the experiment immediately confessed. _____ (48) Of the 15- to 16-year-olds, 72 percent signed confessions, as did 78 percent of the 12- to 13-year-olds. "There's no question that young people are more at risk," says Saul Kassin, a psychology professor at Williams College, who has done similar studies with similar results. _____ (49) Both Kassin and Redlich note that the entire "interrogation" in their experiments consisted of a simple accusation--not hours of aggressive questioning--and still, most participants falsely confessed. Because of the stress of a police interrogation, they conclude, suspects can become convinced that falsely confessing, is the easiest way out of a bad situation. _____ (50) 百考试题论坛

A In her experiment, participants were seated at computers and told not to hit the "alt" key, because doing so would crash the systems. B "In some ways," says Kassin, "false confession becomes a rational decision." C "It's a little like somebody's working on them with a dental (牙齿的) drill," says Franklin 确 Zimring, a law professor at the University of California at Berkeley. D "But adults are highly vulnerable too." E How could an innocent person admit to doing something he didn't do? F Redlich also found that the younger the participant, the more likely a false confession. 答案：C A F D B 相关推荐：2011职称英语理工词汇选项训练汇总 2011年理工A考试阅读判断练习汇总 为了能及时获取2011年职称英语相关信息，建议大家收藏#333333>百考试题职称英语考试频道点击收藏，我们会第一时间发布相关信息。 #ff0000>百考试题职称英语考试网衷心感谢各位网友在2010年支持和关心我们的工作！ 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问
