2011年职称英语综合类B考前每日一练（14）PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式，建议阅读原文
https／／www．100test．com／kao＿ti2020／646／2021＿2022＿2011＿E5＿B9＿ B4＿E8＿81＿8C＿c91＿646457．htm 下面有3篇短文，每篇短文后有5道题。请根据短文内容，为每题确定1个最佳选项。第4部分：阅读理解（第31～45题，每题3分，共45分）下面有3篇短文，每篇短文后有 5 道题。请根据短文内容，为每题确定 1 个最佳选项。第一篇 H ow Do A merican ConsumersBorrow？ Young consumersoften have not established their credit ratings． Many do not have steady incomes They might have difficulty borrowing money from an agency in businessto make loans．Parents or relativesare usually their bes source of loans．Of course，the parentsor relativeswould have to havemoney available and be willing to lend it．You might even get an interest－free loan．However， a parent or relative who lendsshould receive the same interest asany other lender．There are disadvantagesin borrowing from parentsor relatives $O$ ne isthat they may not insist on you paying back the money by acertain time．A saresult，you might let the loan drag on． Thisisespecially true if you are not required to pay interest．Thisis not away to develop good credit habits．For most consumers，the cheapest place to borrow isat a commercial bank．Banksare agood source of installment loan which may run for 12 monthsor up to 30 ． Most banksalso make single payment loansto consumersfor short periods30，60，or 90 days．The newest type of bank loan isone that a depositor can get simply by writing acheck．It isusually called something like＂ready credit＂or＂reerved checking．＂It workslike this A depositor isgiven alimited amount of credit, usually between $$ 500$ and $$ 1,000$. Heor she may write checksup to the amount allowed. O nce acheck hasbeen written, the amount of the check becomesaloan. U sually no charge ismadefor interest (利息) until the loan ismade. A typical interest rate is3centsper $$ 100$ perday, or just under 1 percent amonth. Suppose that you used $$ 100$ of your credit and repaid it in 30 days. The cost would be 90 cents. If you repaid it in 10 days, the cost would beonly 30 cents. The advantage of borrowing from abank isthat banksgenerally charge lower rates than most other lenders. O ne reason isthat bankshave more strict credit requirementsthan most other lenders. A consumer must have afairly good credit rating to get abank loan. 31. W hich of the following isNOT true?A. The newest type of bank loan issimple to get. B. Bank loansare more difficult to get. C. Bankscharge higher interest rates. D. Banksoffer loansto thosehaving afairly good credit rating. 32. O ne of the disadvantages in borrowing from parentsor relativesisthat A. parentsor relativeswill ask theyoung people to pay back soon. B. it will not help young people to develop agood credit habit. C. they alwayscharge interest. D. they alwayscharge higher ratesthan other lenders. 33 . M ost commercial banksoffer A. installment loansthat may run from 12 to 30 months. B. installment loansthat may run from 30 to 90 days. C. single payment loansthat may run from 30 to 90 days. $D$. single payment loansthat may run from 12to 30 months. 34 . "Ready credit" or "reserved checking" A . is designed to give the depositor acheck. B. allowsthe depositor to write acheck to pay any amount. C. allowsthe depositor to borrow money from abank by writing acheck．D．allowsthe depositor to charge an interes．35．A ccording to the first paragraph，young peopleA．have difficulty borrowing from their parentsor relatives، B． cant get an interest－free loan from their parentsor relatives．C．always borrow money from an agency．D．usually borrow from their parents or relatives \＃0000ff $>$ 点击进入论坛查看答案 $100 T$ est 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www．100test．com

