Creating a World Without Smoking Smoking willBeBanned in all pubs,Clubs and workplaces from next year after historic votes in theCommons last night. After last-minutes appeals from health Campaigners, MPs opted for aBlanket prohibition which will start in summer 2007, ending months of argument over whether smokers shouldBeBarred in pubs and restaurants only. They voted toBan smoking in all pubs andClubsBy 384 to 184, a surprisingly large majority of 200. Smoking will stillBe allowed in the home and in placesConsidered toBe homes, such as prisons,Care hornes and hotels. Smokers lighting up inBanned areas will face a fixed penalty notice of £ 1,000. Carpline Flint, the Public Health Minister, also announced that the fine for failing to stop people smoking inBanned areas wouldBe increased to £ 2,500 more than ten times the £ 200 originally proposed. TheBill also allows the Government to increase the age forBuying Cigarettes. Ministers willConsult on raising it from 16 to 18. TheBill now goes to the LordsBut willBe throughBy the summer recess. Even a plan to allow smoking toContinue in privateClubs was thrown out as MPs on all sides were given permission to vote with theirConscience rather than on a party line.

Patricia Hewitt, the Health Secretary, said the Health Bill would ban smoking in “virtually every enclosed public place and workplace” in England and save thousands of lives a year. Smoke-free workplaces and public places “will become the norm”. She said: “An additional 600,000 people will give up smoking as a result of this law and millions more will be protected from second-hand smoke.” Peter Hollins, director general of the British Heart Foundation, said: “The vote is a landmark victory for the public health of this country and will save the lives of many people.”
