Now there is bacn (pronounced "bacon"), the latest buzzword to infiltrate the Internet. 刚开始是垃圾邮件，现在又来了个培根邮件。培根邮件（bacn）是目前互联网上无处不在的一个热门词汇。

According to the bloggers who invented the term, bacn is e-mail you want to read just not now. It ' s Facebook notifications, bank statements, Google news alerts, or any of the other sundry e-mails that you asked for, yet quickly pile up unread like a week ' s worth of newspapers. 发明该词的博主给出的定义是：培根邮件是你想看的邮件，只不过不是马上就看的那种。培根邮件可能是来自Facebook的新提醒、银行帐户的变动通知、谷歌发送的新闻提示，以及其它各类你自己订阅的邮件。这些未读邮件会迅速堆积起来，就像积了一周的报纸放在一起。 Bacn is so-named because it ' s better than spam, but not as good as a personal e-mail. And unlike spam, bacn is self-inflicted. You signed up for it, and you actually do want that information. But yet it still feels like it ' s wasting your time. 另取名为“bacn（培根）”，是因为这类邮件并没有垃圾邮件那么烦人，但也不像个人邮件那么讨人喜欢。而且，跟垃圾邮件不同的是，培根邮件是用户自发订阅的。你注册订阅了这些邮件，你也确实需要邮件中提供的信息。只是你仍然会觉得阅读这些邮件是在浪费
