Opportunities Opportunities are a much-debated topic in that it affects everybody in their daily lives. Some people criticize the importance of opportunities, who argues that without knowledge and skill the opportunities are doomed to slip away. They believe that knowledge and skill are more important than opportunities. But people who advocate the importance of opportunities, on the other hand, argue that opportunities are the most important factor in their lives. Without opportunities, they would not succeed in business. As far as I am concerned, I can only say that I need opportunity, and I need hard work more. We all know that opportunities do play an important role in one ' s success. However, many people believe that the key factor that leads to one ' s final success depends on two aspects. The first aspect is one ' s diligence and ability. The second one is the opportunities. A further argument is that ability is the basic of success. Without ability, even very good opportunities come, you can not grasp them. However, what really counts is not how lucky you are to get good opportunities, but whether or not you have such ability to take advantage of them. There are plenty of opportunities for everyone in our society, but only those who are prepared adequately and qualified highly can make use of them to achieve their goal. 二、 Harmfulness of Video Games Harmfulness of Video Games Nowadays, time and again, students are prohibited from playing video games, but almost in vain. As a matter of fact, many teenagers are still seen indulging in the exciting games, esp. during the vacations. However, this problem has caught the national wide attention. As is well known, video games can do great harm to students and society. First, they greatly affect students' eyesight and their health. As a matter of fact, some students can't resist the temptation of playing video games. Therefore, they cut their lunch and pour all their pocket money on video games. And what is worse, they waste all their free time on the games so as to escape the teachers' strict requirements and the parents' harsh words. As a result, they fail rapidly in health. Besides, video games take students' attention from their classroom and greatly affect their studies. As some students are so indulged in the games, they naturally forget about their homework and even begin to skip school. Third, some violence in the games can lead students astray. Finally the deadly need for money to play the games can drive them to robbery, theft or any other kinds of crimes or tragedies. Therefore, it's high time we took effective measures to stop the students from playing video games. On the one hand, we should let people in the society become fully aware of the harmfulness of video games. On the other had, we should enhance the punishment of the illegal owner of the video houses so as to completely prohibit the students from playing video games.

三、 Can Success Be Measured in Terms of Money?

Can Success Be Measured in Terms of Money? There is a deep-rooted concept in the minds of many people that money is the only yardstick of success. What they do not realize is that there are many types of success, and some are associated with wealth and some not. It is high time that such people opened their eyes and took a sober look at the world around them. While it is true that a successful businessman or inventor will usually become rich, many other people who are outstanding in their fields do not reap monetary rewards. One example is the rocket scientist who makes great achievements in the field of astronautics while gaining glory for his country, but draws a modest salary. Another example is Lei Feng, who has marked his name in history because his life was devoted to helping others, although he owned almost no personal possessions. Measuring success by money alone leads people to strive to make money by fair means or foul. If one's only goal in life is to become rich, without serving others or making any worthwhile achievements, then one certainly cannot regard oneself as a success. Furthermore, those who spend their lives scrambling for more, even though they gain it, are the biggest losers of all.

四、 On Reading

It is generally believed that reading is an important part of our life. To begin with, it undoubtedly enriches our life. When we feel lonesome, we can pick up a book and enjoy what we read. By reading, we may feel we lead different kinds of lives, and talk to people of different periods in history. Besides, by reading, we may also feel someone is giving us some good advice on life and work. Therefore, reading is really indispensable to our life. To be good readers, we should take at least three factors into account. First, one should read extensively. No doubt, the more books one reads, the more one is inclined to read. Besides, a good reader should always read some books actively rather than passively, because reading is viewed as a kind of effective intercourse with the write. Finally, a good reader should always ponder upon what he reads, for reading without reflecting is like eating without digestion. All in all, from reading comes understanding. and from understanding comes more reading. A good reader is one who not only reads actively and extensively, but also reads with full understanding. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com
